The William W. Cook Lectures on American Institutions

FIRST SERIES

Freedom and Responsibility in the American Way of Life

PROFESSOR CARL L. BECKER

DECEMBER 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 1944

RACKHAM BUILDING • ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN
THE WILLIAM W. COOK LECTURES
ON AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

William Wilson Cook, twice a graduate of the University of Michigan, A.B., 1880; LL.B., 1882, and a distinguished member of the New York bar, believed ardently in the value of American institutions. Indeed, so earnest was his belief that in 1927 he wrote and published a two-volume work entitled “American Institutions and Their Preservation.” Motivated by the desire that his Alma Mater should make a major contribution to study, teaching, and dissemination of sound precepts concerning the American way of life, Mr. Cook established at the University the William W. Cook Foundation for Lectures on American Institutions handsomely endowed to achieve the ends he had in view.

This program announces the first series of lectures to be held under the auspices of the Foundation. The lecturer, Professor Carl L. Becker, Professor of History at Cornell University, has had a long and distinguished career as a teacher and scholar in political science and history. His lectures and published works show a lifetime of thoughtful study of American government, history, and political theory. The unusually timely lectures will be made available in published form, as soon as possible after delivery, in a volume entitled “Freedom and Responsibility in the American Way of Life.”
