The William W. Cook Lectures on American Institutions

SECOND SERIES

Total War and the Constitution

PROFESSOR EDWARD SAMUEL CORWIN

MARCH 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 1946

RACKHAM BUILDING • ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN
THE WILLIAM W. COOK LECTURES
ON AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

WILLIAM WILSON COOK, twice a graduate of the University of Michigan, A.B., 1880; LL.B., 1882, and until his death in 1930 a distinguished member of the New York bar, was exceedingly generous to his Alma Mater. He built the William W. Cook Law Quadrangle, dedicated to legal education and research. He gave the University The Martha Cook Building—a residence hall for women. Mr. Cook had many interests outside his profession but none was more intense than his devotion to American institutions. Indeed, so earnest was his belief in the value of those institutions that in 1927 he wrote and published a two-volume work entitled "American Institutions and Their Preservation." Motivated by the desire that his Alma Mater should make a major contribution to study, teaching, and dissemination of sound precepts concerning the American way of life, Mr. Cook established at the University the William W. Cook Foundation for Lectures on American Institutions handsomely endowed to achieve the ends he had in view.

This program announces the second series of lectures to be held under the auspices of the Foundation. The lecturer, Professor Edward Samuel Corwin, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence at Princeton University, has had a long and distinguished career as a teacher, scholar, and writer in the field of government. His lectures and published works reveal a lifetime of thoughtful study of American government, constitutional theory, and public administration. In 1925 Professor Corwin was awarded the degree of Doctor of Laws by the University of Michigan. The unusually timely lectures in this second series will be made available in published form, as soon as possible after delivery.
