The William W. Cook Lectures on American Institutions

THIRD SERIES

Alternative To Serfdom

PROFESSOR JOHN MAURICE CLARK

MARCH 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 1947

RACKHAM BUILDING • ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN
THE WILLIAM W. COOK LECTURES ON AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

WILLIAM WILSON COOK, twice a graduate of the University of Michigan, A.B., 1880; LL.B., 1882, and until his death in 1930 a distinguished member of the New York bar, was exceedingly generous to his Alma Mater. He built the William W. Cook Law Quadrangle, dedicated to legal education and research. He gave the University the Martha Cook Building—a residence hall for women. Mr. Cook had many interests outside his profession but none was more intense than his devotion to American institutions. Indeed, so earnest was his belief in the value of those institutions that in 1927 he wrote and published a two-volume work entitled "American Institutions and Their Preservation." Motivated by the desire that his Alma Mater should make a major contribution to study, teaching, and dissemination of sound precepts concerning the American way of life, Mr. Cook established at the University the William W. Cook Foundation for Lectures on American Institutions, handsomely endowed to achieve the ends he had in view.

This program announces the third series of lectures to be held under the auspices of the Foundation. The lecturer, Professor John Maurice Clark, Professor of Economics at Columbia University, has had a long and distinguished career as a teacher, scholar, and writer in the field of economics, and as a Government consultant on economic affairs. He is a graduate of Amherst College, with the Bachelor of Arts degree, in the Class of 1905, and of Columbia University, with the Master of Arts degree, in 1906, and the Doctor of Philosophy degree, in 1910. His distinction in his chosen field has brought him an honorary degree from his Alma Mater, Amherst (L.H.D. in 1935), and one from the University of Chicago (L.L.D., in 1941). The timely lectures in this third series will be made available in published form as soon as possible after delivery.
