Michigan Law Sesquicentennial Celebration

University of Michigan Law School

Follow this and additional works at: https://repository.law.umich.edu/events

Part of the Legal Education Commons

Citation

This Program is brought to you for free and open access by the Law School History and Publications at University of Michigan Law School Scholarship Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Event Materials by an authorized administrator of University of Michigan Law School Scholarship Repository. For more information, please contact mlaw.repository@umich.edu.
DEAR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS,

I'm delighted to welcome you back to campus to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of the University of Michigan Law School. I hope I have the chance to greet you personally this weekend, whether at our Gala Dinner, Worldwide Reunion, the football tailgate, or just in passing in the newly brightened corridors of Hutchins Hall. And I hope you have a wonderful weekend in Ann Arbor.

We're thrilled to have as our special guests John G. Roberts, Jr., the Chief Justice of the United States, and Judge Bruno Simma of the International Court of Justice. I'm looking forward to hearing from these two great jurists, and I'm sure you are as well.

Even as we celebrate our distinguished history and international stature, this weekend marks the beginning of a new era for Michigan Law. We're breaking ground for a new academic building and a stunning Commons that will be our first-ever central gathering place.

The new facilities will rise over the next two to three years, as we continue to provide an unsurpassed legal education to the classes of 2010, 2011, and 2012. The completed expansion will enhance our mission many times over.

We press forward in full recognition that these are challenging times for the world economy and the legal profession. But Michigan Law, founded on the eve of the Civil War, has weathered many an economic, political, and social storm. Amid the current turbulence, we have built significant positive momentum, due in large part to the support and goodwill of our alumni network.

I am confident that Michigan's strength, sustained by its thousands of alumni and friends, will allow us to be a significant force in worldwide legal education and the profession of law for generations to come. Thank you again for being with us at this important milestone in our history.

Evan H. Caminker
Dean and Branch Rickey Collegiate Professor of Law
DEAR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS,

I'm delighted to welcome you back to campus to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of the University of Michigan Law School. I hope I have the chance to greet you personally this weekend, whether at our Gala Dinner, Worldwide Reunion, the football tailgate, or just in passing in the newly brightened corridors of Hutchins Hall. And I hope you have a wonderful weekend in Ann Arbor.

We're thrilled to have as our special guests John G. Roberts, Jr., the Chief Justice of the United States, and Judge Bruno Simma of the International Court of Justice. I'm looking forward to hearing from these two great jurists, and I'm sure you are as well.

Even as we celebrate our distinguished history and international stature, this weekend marks the beginning of a new era for Michigan Law. We're breaking ground for a new academic building and a stunning Commons that will be our first-ever central gathering place.

The new facilities will rise over the next two to three years, as we continue to provide an unsurpassed legal education to the classes of 2010, 2011, and 2012. The completed expansion will enhance our mission many times over.

We press forward in full recognition that these are challenging times for the world economy and the legal profession. But Michigan Law, founded on the eve of the Civil War, has weathered many an economic, political, and social storm. Amid the current turbulence, we have built significant positive momentum, due in large part to the support and goodwill of our alumni network.

I am confident that Michigan's strength, sustained by its thousands of alumni and friends, will allow us to be a significant force in worldwide legal education and the profession of law for generations to come. Thank you again for being with us at this important milestone in our history.

Evan H. Caminker
Dean and Branch Rickey Collegiate Professor of Law
THURSDAY • SEPTEMBER 10, 2009
Registration
8:30 A.M. - 5:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall
Branch Rickey Documentary Screening and Panel Discussion
4:00 P.M. - 5:30 P.M. • 100 Hutchins Hall
Gala Welcome Reception
6:00 P.M. - 8:00 P.M. • Law Quadrangle—outdoors, under the tent

FRIDAY • SEPTEMBER 11, 2009
Registration
8:00 A.M. - 12:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall
Alumni and Student Breakfast
8:00 A.M. - 9:30 A.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge
A Conversation with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
10:00 A.M. - 11:30 A.M. • Hill Auditorium
Lunch Buffet
12:00 P.M. - 2:00 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Remarks by Margaret A. Leary at 12:45 P.M.
Groundbreaking Ceremony with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
2:00 P.M. - 3:00 P.M. • Southeast corner of State and Monroe streets
Eyes on Hutchins, Eyes on the World: The Deans’ Perspective
3:30 P.M. - 5:30 P.M. • 100 Hutchins Hall
Gala Reception and Dinner
7:00 P.M. • Cocktails
7:45 P.M. • Dinner Service
8:00 P.M. • Program
Michigan League, Second floor

SATURDAY • SEPTEMBER 12, 2009
Coffee
9:00 A.M. • Hallway outside Room 100 Hutchins Hall.
CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 1A: State of the Global Economy
9:45 A.M. - 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
Panel 1B: Intellectual Property from the 19th to the 21st Century
9:45 A.M. - 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 2A: Civil Justice Reconsidered: Perspectives from Around the World
11:15 A.M. - 12:30 P.M. • Hutchins Hall
Panel 2B: The Changing Careers and Satisfaction of Michigan Law School Graduates
11:15 A.M. - 12:30 P.M. • Hutchins Hall
Tailgate and Live Feed Telecast: Michigan v. Notre Dame
Tailgate 12:30 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Live-Feed 3:30 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Lunch available from 12:30 P.M. - 2:00 P.M.; snacks and beverages available throughout the game.
Football Game at the Big House
Join fellow alumni and friends in the Sesquicentennial block.
Emeriti Dinners
7:00 P.M. - 10:00 P.M. • Campus Inn
The Classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959 will celebrate their 60th, 55th, and 50th reunions at these private Class dinners. RSVP required.
Worldwide Reunion and Dinner
7:00 P.M. • Cocktails
8:00 P.M. • Program
University of Michigan Museum of Art
Located at the corner of State and South University streets, right across from the Law Quad

SUNDAY • SEPTEMBER 13, 2009
Farewell Brunch
9:30 A.M. - 12:00 P.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge
THURSDAY • SEPTEMBER 10, 2009
Registration
8:30 A.M. – 5:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall
Branch Rickey Documentary Screening and Panel Discussion
4:00 P.M. – 5:30 P.M. • 100 Hutchins Hall
Gala Welcome Reception
6:00 P.M. – 8:00 P.M. • Law Quadrangle—outdoors, under the tent

FRIDAY • SEPTEMBER 11, 2009
Registration
8:00 A.M. – 12:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall
Alumni and Student Breakfast
8:00 A.M. – 9:30 A.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge
A Conversation with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
10:00 A.M. – 11:30 A.M. • Hill Auditorium
Lunch Buffet
12:00 P.M. – 2:00 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Remarks by Margaret A. Leary at 12:45 P.M.
Groundbreaking Ceremony with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
2:00 P.M. – 3:00 P.M. • Southeast corner of State and Monroe streets
Eyes on Hutchins, Eyes on the World: The Deans’ Perspective
3:30 P.M. – 5:30 P.M. • 100 Hutchins Hall
Gala Reception and Dinner
7:00 P.M. • Cocktails
7:45 P.M. • Dinner Service
8:00 P.M. • Program
Michigan League, Second floor

SATURDAY • SEPTEMBER 12, 2009
Coffee
9:00 A.M. • Hallway outside Room 100 Hutchins Hall.
CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 1A: State of the Global Economy
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
Panel 1B: Intellectual Property from the 19th to the 21st Century
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 2A: Civil Justice Reconsidered: Perspectives from Around the World
11:15 A.M. – 12:30 P.M. • Hutchins Hall
Panel 2B: The Changing Careers and Satisfaction of Michigan Law School Graduates
11:15 A.M. – 12:30 P.M. • Hutchins Hall
Tailgate and Live Feed Telecast: Michigan v. Notre Dame
Tailgate 12:30 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Live-Feed 3:30 P.M. • Law Quadrangle
Lunch available from 12:30 P.M. – 2:00 P.M.; snacks and beverages available throughout the game.
Football Game @ the Big House
Join fellow alumni and friends in the Sesquicentennial block.
Emeriti Dinners
7:00 P.M. – 10:00 P.M. • Campus Inn
The Classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959 will celebrate their 60th, 55th, and 50th reunions at these private Class dinners. RSVP required.
Worldwide Reunion and Dinner
7:00 P.M. • Cocktails
8:00 P.M. • Program
University of Michigan Museum of Art
Located at the corner of State and South University streets, right across from the Law Quad

SUNDAY • SEPTEMBER 13, 2009
Farewell Brunch
9:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge

Bruno Simma has served as Judge at the International Court of Justice since February 6, 2003. He is Affiliate Overseas Professor of the University of Michigan Law School in Ann Arbor (on leave during his tenure at the Court) and was from 1973-2003 Professor of International and European Community Law at the University of Munich. Bruno Simma is author or coauthor of around 120 articles and several books, among them Universelles Völkerrecht (with Alfred Verdross), editor of a commentary on the UN Charter, cofounder and co-editor of the European Journal of International Law, as well as cofounder of the European Society of International Law. He served as counsel and arbitrator in various international cases. From 1997-2002, he was a member of the UN International Law Commission, and from 1987-1996 a member of the UN Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.

Bruno Simma has served as Judge at the International Court of Justice since February 6, 2003. He is Affiliate Overseas Professor of the University of Michigan Law School in Ann Arbor (on leave during his tenure at the Court) and was from 1973-2003 Professor of International and European Community Law at the University of Munich. Bruno Simma is author or coauthor of around 120 articles and several books, among them Universelles Völkerrecht (with Alfred Verdross), editor of a commentary on the UN Charter, cofounder and co-editor of the European Journal of International Law, as well as cofounder of the European Society of International Law. He served as counsel and arbitrator in various international cases. From 1997-2002, he was a member of the UN International Law Commission, and from 1987-1996 a member of the UN Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.
THURSDAY • SEPTEMBER 10, 2009

Registration
8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. • 116 Hutchins Hall

Branch Rickey Documentary and Discussion
4:00 p.m. – 5:30 p.m. • 100 Hutchins Hall
Join film producer Christopher Cook, writer and sports historian John U. Bacon, and U-M law faculty member Richard Friedman for a special screening of A Matter of Fairness, the new film documentary on Branch Rickey, '11, the racial integration of baseball, and Rickey’s remarkable impact on sports and society.

Gala Welcome Reception
6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. • Law Quadrangle (outdoors under the tent)
Celebrate your return to the Quad and enjoy the camaraderie of fellow alumni and some of your favorite faculty members in this beautiful setting.

FRIDAY • SEPTEMBER 11, 2009

Registration
8:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. • 116 Hutchins Hall
Alumni and Student Breakfast
8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m. • Lawyers Club Lounge
Meet and talk with current students about today’s Michigan Law while enjoying a continental breakfast.

A Conversation with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
10:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m. • Hill Auditorium
Dean Evan Caminker moderates an informal question-and-answer session for the entire Law School community with special guest Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.

Gala Reception and Dinner
7:00 p.m. Cocktails
7:45 p.m. Dinner Seating
8:00 p.m. Program
Michigan League, Second Floor
Celebrate the first 150 years of Michigan Law and toast the next 150. Three distinguished Michigan alumni will offer their reflections: The Honorable Harry T. Edwards, of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit, JD '65; Mayo Moran, the Dean and James M. Tory Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Toronto, LLM '92; and Ronald L. Olson, a partner in the Los Angeles office of Munger, Tolles and Olson, JD '66. The program also includes special recognition of the emeriti classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959. For all Michigan Law alumni.

Deans:
Theodore J. St. Antoine, '54
Terrance Sandalow
Lee C. Bollinger
Jeffrey S. Lehman, '81
Evan H. Caminker
THURSDAY • SEPTEMBER 10, 2009

Registration
8:30 A.M. – 5:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall

Branch Rickey Documentary and Discussion
4:00 p.m. – 5:30 p.m. • 100 Hutchins Hall

Join film producer Christopher Cook, writer and sports historian John U. Bacon, and U-M law faculty member Richard Friedman for a special screening of A Matter of Fairness, the new film documentary on Branch Rickey, ’11, the racial integration of baseball, and Rickey’s remarkable impact on sports and society.

Gala Welcome Reception
6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. • Law Quadrangle (outdoors under the tent)

Celebrate your return to the Quad and enjoy the camaraderie of fellow alumni and some of your favorite faculty members in this beautiful setting.

FRIDAY • SEPTEMBER 11, 2009

Registration
8:00 A.M. – 12:00 P.M. • 116 Hutchins Hall

Alumni and Student Breakfast
8:00 A.M. – 9:30 A.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge

Meet and talk with current students about today’s Michigan Law while enjoying a continental breakfast.

A Conversation with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
10:00 A.M. – 11:30 A.M. • Hill Auditorium

Dean Evan Caminker moderates an informal question-and-answer session for the entire Law School community with special guest Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.

Lunch and Remarks by Margaret Leary
Giving It All Away: William W. Cook and the University of Michigan
12:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. • Law Quadrangle

Law Library director Margaret A. Leary knows a lot about William W. Cook: why he became a lawyer, how he made his fortune, who he married, his role in global communication, why he battled with former Dean Henry Moore Bates, and above all, why he gave his entire estate to Michigan Law. Ms. Leary, who is writing a biography of Cook, speaks on “Giving It All Away: William W. Cook and the University of Michigan,” as you enjoy lunch under the tent in the midst of the house that Cook built.

Groundbreaking Ceremony with Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr.
2:00 P.M. – 3:00 P.M. • Southeast corner of State and Monroe streets

Join Chief Justice Roberts, University President Mary Sue Coleman, and Dean Caminker for a groundbreaking ceremony for the Law School’s new academic building, part of a historic expansion and renovation that also includes construction of a new Law School Commons and the re-facing of the aluminum siding on the Legal Research Building.

Eyes on Hutchins, Eyes on the World: The Deans’ Perspective
3:30 P.M. – 5:30 P.M. • 100 Hutchins Hall

All living Deans of the Law School offer their views on Michigan Law’s involvement with and contributions to legal education and practice worldwide. Professor Christina B. Whitman, ’74, moderates the discussion of Professor Emeritus Theodore J. St. Antoine, ’54; Professor Emeritus Terrance Sandelow, Lee C. Bollinger; president of and professor of law at Columbia University; Jeffrey S. Lehman, ’81, chancellor and founding dean of the School of Transnational Law, Peking University, Shenzen campus; and Evan H. Caminker, Dean and Branch Rickey Collegiate Professor of Law.

Gala Reception and Dinner
7:00 P.M. Cocktails
7:45 P.M. Dinner Seating
8:00 P.M. Program

Michigan League, Second Floor

Celebrate the first 150 years of Michigan Law and toast the next 150. Three distinguished Michigan alumni will offer their reflections: The Honorable Harry T. Edwards, of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit, JD ’65; Mayo Moran, the Dean and James M. Tory Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Toronto, LLM ’92; and Ronald L. Olson, a partner in the Los Angeles office of Munger, Tolles and Olson, JD ’66. The program also includes special recognition of the emeriti classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959. For all Michigan Law alumni.
Coffee
9:00 A.M. • Hallway outside Room 100 Hutchins Hall

Academic Programs

CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 1A: State of the Global Economy
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall

The global economic crisis has taught us just how interconnected the world is today. A panel of experts considers the global economy from an international legal perspective.

Panelists: Michael S. Barr, Assistant Secretary for Financial Institutions, Treasury Department; Professor of Law, Michigan Law; Emilio Cárdenas, MCL ’86, Of counsel, Cárdenas, Casasjau & Associates; former Argentine Ambassador to the United Nations; former Executive Director of HSBC Argentina Holdenia S.A.; past president of the International Bar Association; Susan B. Esserman, ’77, Partner and Chair of the International Department, O’Melveny & Johnson LLP; former Deputy U.S. Trade Representative • John H. Jackson, ’99, University Professor, Georgetown University Law Center; Hessel E. Yertema Professor of Law Emeritus, Michigan Law • Vikramaditya S. Khanna, Professor of Law, Michigan Law

Panel 1B: Intellectual Property from the 19th to the 21st Century
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall

Though the field of intellectual property has expanded dramatically in the late 20th century, its roots are centuries old. Michigan Law’s intellectual property faculty is the premier such group anywhere, and the scholars who comprise the group are known internationally for their expertise. In this presentation, they provide a historical perspective on the field that includes the law of copyright, trademarks and unfair competition, patents, cyberspace, and the Internet.

Panelists: Susan Crawford, Special Assistant to the President for Science, Technology and Innovation, National Economic Council; Professor of Law, Michigan Law • Rebecca S. Eisenberg, Robert and Barbara Luciano Professor of Law, Michigan Law • Jessica Litman, Professor of Law, Michigan Law • Margaret Jane Radin, Henry King Ransom Professor of Law, Michigan Law • Moderator: James J. White, ’62, Robert A. Sullivan Professor of Law, Michigan Law

CONCURRENT PANELS
Panel 2A: Civil Justice Reconsidered: Perspectives from Around the World
11:15 A.M. – 12:30 P.M. • Hutchins Hall

What is the role of civil litigation? A forthcoming book by Michigan Professor Steven P. Croley explores this question. In this discussion, Croley and international colleagues will consider whether civil litigation should be encouraged not only for reasons of fairness or distribution (as proponents of legal services commonly emphasize), but also because litigation often creates benefits for the rest of society that is not obvious.

Panelists: Steven P. Croley, Professor of Law, Michigan Law • Zdenek Kühn, LL.M. ’03, SJD ’06, Justice, Supreme Administrative Court of the Czech Republic; Judge ad hoc, European Court of Human Rights; Professor of Law, Charles University Law School, Prague • Yoichiro Yamakawa, MCL ’69, Senior Partner, Koga and Partners, Tokyo, Japan; specially in constitutional litigation; Board Member, Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group; Wang Liming, Vice President, China People’s University and former Dean of the China People’s University School of Law; Moderator: Phoebe C. Ellsworth, Frank Murphy Distinguished University Professor of Law and Psychology, University of Michigan

Michigan is the only American law school that has surveyed its alumni about their careers on a regular basis. Forty consecutive classes, from 1952 through 2007, have been included and all but the most recent classes have been surveyed more than once. Professor Emeritus David Chambers and Terry Adams, ’72, will describe some of the study’s more puzzling findings—for example, the swings in career satisfaction of private practitioners across the years and the ways in which women’s and men’s careers have differed—and seek your guidance in their search for explanations.

Tailgate and Live Feed Telecast: Michigan v. Notre Dame
12:30 P.M. • Law Quadrangle

For the first time ever, Michigan Law will screen Wolverine football on the Quad, complete with food and libations!
Come cheer the team on to victory over Notre Dame with classmates and fellow alumni! Tailgate lunch available from 12:30-2:00 p.m., live feed at 3:30 p.m., snacks and drinks available throughout the game.

Football Game @ the Big House
3:30 P.M. • Michigan Stadium
You must have pre-purchased tickets.

Emeriti Dinners
7:00 P.M. – 10:00 P.M. • Campus Inn
The Classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959 will celebrate their 60th, 55th, and 50th reunions at private Class dinners.

Worldwide Reunion and Dinner
7:00 P.M. • Cocktails
8:00 P.M. • Program
University of Michigan Museum of Art
All Michigan Law alumni are welcome to attend this casual, post-game strolling supper that celebrates the Law School’s global heritage. Throughout our 150-year history, students have come to Ann Arbor from Beijing to Budapest (as well as from Portland, Oregon to Portland, Maine), and today, Michigan Law graduates work and live all over the world. At this very special gathering, we’ll come together to celebrate our friends, colleagues, and classmates who know how to say Go Blue in more languages than one. With remarks by International Court of Justice Judge Bruno Simma. This event will take place in the newly renovated University of Michigan Museum of Art.
this discussion, Croley and international colleagues will consider whether civil litigation should be encouraged not only often creates benefits for the rest of society (that is, non-litigants).

Though the field of intellectual property has expanded dramatically in the late 20th century, its roots are centuries old. The global economic crisis has taught us just how interconnected the world is today. A panel of experts considers the group are known internationally for their expertise. In this presentation, they provide a historical perspective on the field

What is the role of civil litigation? A forthcoming book by Michigan Professor Steven P. Croley explores this question. In

Academic Programs

CONCURRENT PANELS

Panel 1A: State of the Global Economy
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
The global economic crisis has taught us just how interconnected the world is today. A panel of experts considers the field of intellectual property faculty is the premier such group anywhere, and the scholars who comprise the group are known internationally for their expertise. In this presentation, they provide a historical perspective on the field that includes the law of copyright, trademarks and unfair competition, patents, cyberspace, and the Internet.

Panel 1B: Intellectual Property from the 19th to the 21st Century
9:45 A.M. – 11:00 A.M. • Hutchins Hall
Panel 1B: Intellectual Property from the 19th to the 21st Century

Though the field of intellectual property has expanded dramatically in the late 20th century, its roots are centuries old. Michigan Law's intellectual property faculty is the premier such group anywhere, and the scholars who comprise the group are known internationally for their expertise. In this presentation, they provide a historical perspective on the field that includes the law of copyright, trademarks and unfair competition, patents, cyberspace, and the Internet.

Panelists:
- Susan Crawford, Special Assistant to the President for Science, Technology and Innovation, National Economic Council, Professor of Law, Michigan Law
- Rebecca S. Eisenberg, Robert and Barbara Luciano Professor of Law, Michigan Law
- Jessica Litman, John F. Noyes Professor of Law, Michigan Law
- Margaret Jane Radin, Henry King Ransom Professor of Law, Michigan Law
- Moderator: James J. White, '62, Robert A. Sullivan Professor of Law, Michigan Law

CONCURRENT PANELS

Panel 2A: Civil Justice Reconsidered: Perspectives from Around the World
11:15 A.M. – 12:30 p.m. • Hutchins Hall
What is the role of civil litigation? A forthcoming book by Michigan Professor Steven P. Croley explores this question. In this discussion, Croley and international colleagues will consider whether civil litigation should be encouraged not only often creates benefits for fairness or distribution (as proponents of legal services commonly emphasize), but also because litigation often creates benefits for the rest of society (that is, non-litigants).

Panelists:
- Steven P. Croley, Professor of Law, Michigan Law
- Zdenek Kühn, LL.M. ’02, SJD ’06, Justice, Supreme Administrative Court of the Czech Republic; Judge ad hoc, European Court of Human Rights; Professor of Law, Charles University Law School, Prague
- Yoshino Yamakawa, M.D., ’69, Senior Partner, Aoki and Partners, Tokyo, Japan; specialist in constitutional litigation; Board Member, Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group; Wang Liming, Vice President, China People’s University and former Dean of the China People’s University’s School of Law; Moderator: Phoebe C. Ellisworth, Frank Murphy Distinguished University Professor of Law and Psychology, University of Michigan

Panel 2B: The Changing Careers and Satisfaction of Michigan Law School Graduates
11:15 A.M. – 12:30 p.m. • Hutchins Hall
Michigan is the only American law school that has surveyed its alumni about their careers on a regular basis. Forty consecutive classes, from 1952 through 2001, have been included and all but the most recent classes have been surveyed more than once. Professor Emeritus David Chambers and Terry Adams, ’72, will describe some of the study’s more puzzling findings—for example, the swings in career satisfaction of private practitioners across the years and the ways in which women’s and men’s careers have differed—and seek your guidance in their search for explanations.

Tailgate and Live Feed Telecast: Michigan v. Notre Dame
12:30 p.m. • Law Quadrangle
For the first time ever, Michigan Law will screen Wolverine football on the Quad, complete with food and drinks! Come cheer the team on to victory over Notre Dame with classmates and fellow alumni. Tailgate lunch available from 12:30-2:00 p.m., live-feed at 3:30 p.m.; snacks and drinks available throughout the game.

Football Game at The Big House
3:30 p.m. • Michigan Stadium
You must have pre-purchased tickets.

Emeriti Dinners
7:00 p.m. – 10:00 p.m. • Campus Inn
The Classes of 1949, 1954, and 1959 will celebrate their 60th, 55th, and 50th reunions at private Class dinners.

Worldwide Reunion and Dinner
7:00 p.m. • Cocktails
8:00 p.m. • Program
University of Michigan Museum of Art
All Michigan Law alumni are welcome to attend this casual, post-game strolling supper that celebrates the Law School’s global heritage. Throughout our 150-year history, students have come to Ann Arbor from Beijing to Budapest (as well as from Portland, Oregon to Portland, Maine), and today, Michigan Law graduates work and live all over the world. At this very special gathering, we’ll come together to celebrate our friends, colleagues, and classmates who know how to say Go Blue in more languages than one. With remarks by International Court of Justice Judge Bruno Simma. This event will take place in the newly renovated University of Michigan Museum of Art.

First SJD degree granted to two Japanese Students
1927

1921
John Wu earns J.D. degree
1923
Three Chinese students enter LL.M. study
1925
Dedication of first building in Law Quad, the Lawyers Club
1927
First SJD degree granted to two Japanese Students
1928
College degree required for admission
1930
William P. Cook dies, leaving most of his money to Michigan Law
Farewell Brunch
9:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge
Drop in to the Lawyers Club Lounge to say goodbye to your friends.

StoryCorps®
Friday and Saturday by appointment • Room S-180 Law Library (Library Administration)
Get a chance to tell about your favorite professor or your funniest memory of Michigan Law! Record it for posterity when StoryCorps®, a national oral history project heard on National Public Radio, visits the Sesquicentennial Celebration. All you need is a good story about the Law School. You can participate with a classmate or friend, or we'll pair you up with an interview partner.

John Monteith Legacy Society Luncheon
Monday, September 14 • University of Michigan Museum of Art
This annual program honors the University’s legacy donors. John Monteith (1787-1868) was a founding father and president of the institution that became the University of Michigan. The society that bears his name honors alumni and friends who are providing the foundation for the University’s future academic excellence. Monteith Society members have made bequests or other planned gifts to benefit the University.

University of Michigan Museum of Art • UMMA
During the Sesquicentennial weekend, consider a visit to the newly expanded and restored University Museum of Art, at the corner of State Street and South University Avenue (right across South University from the Law Quad). For exhibit information please visit www.umma.umich.edu.
Building hours are Daily 8:00 A.M. – 12:00 A.M.
Gallery hours are T/W/Sat 10:00 A.M. – 5:00 P.M.
Th/F 10:00 A.M. – 10:00 P.M.
Sun 12:00 P.M. – 5:00 P.M.

University Golf Course
Or play a round at the University Golf Course on Thursday, Friday, or Sunday (the course is closed on football Saturdays). Reservations required. Please call 734.615.GOLF.
Farewell Brunch
9:30 A.M. - 12:00 P.M. • Lawyers Club Lounge
Drop in to the Lawyers Club Lounge to say goodbye to your friends.

OTHER EVENTS

StoryCorps®
Friday and Saturday by appointment • Room 5-180 Law Library (Library Administration)
Get a taste to tell about your favorite professor or your funniest memory of Michigan Law? Record it for posterity when StoryCorps®, a national oral history project heard on National Public Radio, visits the Sesquicentennial Celebration.
All you need is a good story about the Law School. You can participate with a classmate or friend, or we’ll pair you up with an interview partner.

John Monteith Legacy Society Luncheon
Monday, September 14 • University of Michigan Museum of Art
This annual program honors the University's legacy donors. John Monteith (1787-1868) was a founding father and president of the institution that became the University of Michigan. The society that bears his name honors alumni and friends who are providing the foundation for the University’s future academic excellence. Monteith Society members have made bequests or other planned gifts to benefit the University.

University of Michigan Museum of Art • UMMA
During the Sesquicentennial weekend, consider a visit to the newly expanded and restored University Museum of Art, at the corner of State Street and South University Avenue (right across South University from the Law Quad). For exhibit information please visit www.umma.umich.edu.
Building hours are Daily 8:00 A.M. - 12:00 a.m.
Gallery hours are T/W/Sat 10:00 A.M. - 5:00 P.M.
Th/F 10:00 A.M. - 10:00 P.M.
Sun 12:00 P.M. - 5:00 P.M.

University Golf Course
Or play a round at the University Golf Course on Thursday, Friday, or Sunday (the course is closed on football Saturdays). Reservations required. Please call 734.615.GOLF.
Michael S. Barr teaches Financial Institutions, International Finance, Transnational Law, and Jurisdiction and Choice of Law, and co-founded the International Transnational Law Clinic. He was also a Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress and at the Brookings Institution, and is now serving as the U.S. Department of Treasury’s Assistant Secretary for Financial Stability. Barr conducts large-scale empirical research regarding financial services and low- and moderate-income households and researches and writes about a wide range of issues in financial regulation. Barr recently co-edited Building Inclusive Financial Systems (Brookings Press 2007, with Kumar & Libby) and Insufficient Funds (Russell Sage 2006, with Blank). Barr previously served as Treasury Secretary Robert E. Rubin’s Special Assistant, as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, as Special Advisor to President William J. Clinton, and as Special Advisor to President Clinton, as a special counsel to the U.S. Congress. He was a member of the Executive Committee of the University of Michigan Law School Alumni Society, and is a founding member of the Executive Committee of the University of Michigan Law School Alumni Society. Barr has written extensively on financial services and has appeared in the American Journal of Comparative Law, the Michigan Law Review, the Columbia Law Review, the Stanford Law Review, and the Michigan Law Review. Barr is also a Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress and at the Brookings Institution. Barr conducts large-scale empirical research regarding financial services and low- and moderate-income households and researches and writes about a wide range of issues in financial regulation. Barr recently co-edited Building Inclusive Financial Systems (Brookings Press 2007, with Kumar & Libby) and Insufficient Funds (Russell Sage 2006, with Blank). Barr previously served as Treasury Secretary Robert E. Rubin’s Special Assistant, as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, as Special Advisor to President William J. Clinton, and as Special Advisor to President Clinton, as a special counsel to the U.S. Congress. He was a member of the Executive Committee of the University of Michigan Law School Alumni Society, and is a founding member of the Executive Committee of the University of Michigan Law School Alumni Society. Barr has written extensively on financial services and has appeared in the American Journal of Comparative Law, the Michigan Law Review, the Columbia Law Review, the Stanford Law Review, and the Michigan Law Review.
Terry Adams, '72, is a senior research associate at both the Law School and the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan. He has worked with David Chambers since 1980 on the Law School Alumni Survey and is a founding member of the Executive Coordinating Committee of the American Bar Foundation's After the J.D. Study (a large national study of the careers of a sample of persons who first became members of the bar in the United States in 2000). Adams practiced law as a specialist in public benefits in legal services for the poor, and at a prepaid legal services program for union members, during the 1970s. At the Institute for Social Research, he specializes in statistical sample design.

Adams received his B.A. in political science from Michigan State University, and his J.D. and M.A. in political science from the University of Michigan.

John U. Bacon, an Ann Arbor native and alumnus of the University of Michigan, wrote feature stories for the Detroit News from 1995-1999, when he left to free-lance for Time, The New York Times, and Sports Illustrated, among other publications, earning national honors for his work. He has authored five books on business and sports, the most recent being Bo's Lasting Lessons, A New York Times and Wall Street Journal business bestseller. Bacon teaches history and journalism at Miami University (Ohio), Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism, and the University of Michigan, where he won the 2003 Golden Apple Award, given by students for great teaching. He also delivers speeches across the country and provides commentary on HBO, the Big Ten Network and (every Friday) on Michigan Radio, detnews.com, and johnubacon.com.

Michael S. Barr teaches Financial Institutions, International Finance, Transnational Law, Jurisdiction and Choice of Law, and co-founded the International Transnational Clinic. He was also a Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress and at the Brookings Institution, and is now serving as the U.S. Department of Treasury's Assistant Secretary for Financial Institutions. Barr conducts large-scale empirical research regarding financial services and low- and moderate-income households and researches and writes about a wide range of issues in financial regulation. Barr recently co-edited Building Inclusive Financial Systems (Brookings Press 2007), with Kumar & Luby and Insufficient Funds (Russell Sage 2008, with Blank). Barr previously served as Treasury Secretary Robert E. Rubin's Special Assistant, as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, as Special Advisor to President William J. Clinton, and as a senior research associate at both the Law School and the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, wrote feature stories for the Detroit News from 1995-1999, when he left to free-lance for Time, The New York Times, and Sports Illustrated, among other publications, earning national honors for his work. He has authored five books on business and sports, the most recent being Bo's Lasting Lessons, A New York Times and Wall Street Journal business bestseller. Bacon teaches history and journalism at Miami University (Ohio), Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism, and the University of Michigan, where he won the 2003 Golden Apple Award, given by students for great teaching. He also delivers speeches across the country and provides commentary on HBO, the Big Ten Network and (every Friday) on Michigan Radio, detnews.com, and johnubacon.com.

Lee Bolinger became the nineteenth president of Columbia University in 2002. He is also a member of the faculty of Columbia’s Law School. One of the nation’s leading scholars of First Amendment issues, he has taught and written on freedom of speech and press for more than thirty years. As the named defendant in the twin 2003 Supreme Court cases that clarified and upheld affirmative action in higher education, Bolinger became a national advocate for diversity and integration. In recognition of his leadership on these issues, he received the National Humanitarian Award from the National Conference for Community and Justice and the National Equal Justice Award from the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund. He is the recipient of the Clark Kerr Award, the highest honor conferred by the faculty of the University of California, Berkeley, for his service to higher education, especially on matters of freedom of speech and diversity. Bolinger has received numerous honorary degrees from universities in the United States and around the world. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society. He previously served as president of the University of Michigan, where he was dean of the Law School from 1987-1994 and a law professor from 1973-94 and 1997-2001. Bolinger graduated from the University of Oregon and Columbia Law School.

Evan H. Caminker, the Branch Rickey Collegiate Professor of Law and dean of the Law School since 2003, writes, teaches, and litigates about various issues of American constitutional law, focusing on individual rights, federalism, and the nature of judicial decision making. A recipient of the ACLJ Distinguished Professors Award for Civil Liberties Education, he has taught constitutional law, civil procedure, and federal courts, and has lectured widely before professional, scholarly, and student audiences. His scholarship has appeared in the Michigan Law Review, Yale Law Journal, Columbia Law Review, Stanford Law Review, and the Supreme Court Review. Prior to taking on his responsibilities as dean, he served as associate dean for academic affairs. Dean Caminker came to Michigan from UCLA Law School, where he taught from 1991-99. He received his B.A., summa cum laude, from UCLA and his J.D. from Yale Law School. Dean Caminker clerked for Justice William Brennan at the Supreme Court and for Judge William Norris of the Ninth Circuit. He also practiced law with the Center for Law in the Public Interest in Los Angeles and with Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering in Washington, D.C. From May 2000 through January 2001, he served as deputy assistant attorney general in the Office of Legal Counsel, U.S. Department of Justice.

Emilio Cardenas, M.C.L., '66, is a former Argentine Ambassador to the United Nations (U.N.) and a visiting professor at Michigan Law. He practiced law as a senior partner of Cassetta, Cassagne & Asociados in Buenos Aires, a firm he cofounded, advising national and foreign clients on international business transactions, oil and gas, joint ventures, privatizations, infrastructure projects, and project financing. He is now “of counsel” and an international arbitrator. Cardenas was a professor of law at the University of Buenos Aires and Catholic University of Argentina, and a visiting professor at the University of Illinois. He is the author of several books and numerous articles on legal, economic, and financial matters. From 1990-96 Cardenas served in several capacities at the U.N. He was appointed Ambassador and Argentina’s permanent representative to the U.N. and Argentina’s Ambassador to Dominica and Guyana; as such, he was a Non-Permanent representative at the U.N. Security Council. He also chaired the Sanctions Committee for the former Yugoslavia and was Vice-president of the U.N. Economic and Social Council. As the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Justice’s personal representative to Iraq, he negotiated with Saddam Hussein’s regime on issues related to weapons of mass destruction. Cardenas received his law degree from the University of Buenos Aires and subsequently pursued different graduate studies at Michigan, Princeton, and UC-Berkeley. He is now a member of the United Nations Pension Fund Investment Committee; director of Agenda International; professor of international relations at ESEADE, in Buenos Aires; and member of various corporate boards in Argentina.
Susan Crawford joined the faculty of the University of Michigan Law School on July 1, 2008. She is currently serving in the Obama Administration as a Special Assistant to the President for Science, Technology, and Innovation Policy as part of the National Economic Council, and is on government leave from her duties at the Law School, where she teaches intellectual property law and communications law. She was a visiting professor at Michigan in 2007-08, and at Yale Law School in spring 2008. She served as a member of the board of directors of ICANN from 2005-2008 and is the founder of OneWebDay, a global Earth Day for the internet that takes place each Sept. 22. Professor Crawford, a violist, received her B.A. (summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa) and J.D. from Yale University. She served as a clerk for Judge Raymond J. Dearie of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York, and was a partner at Willer, Cutler & Pickering (Washington, D.C.) until the end of 2002, when she left that firm to enter the legal academy.

Rebecca S. Eisenberg, the Robert and Barbara Luciano Professor of Law, has written and lectured extensively about the role of intellectual property in biomedical research. She has also played an active role in policy debates concerning intellectual property in research science. Professor Eisenberg teaches courses on patent law, trademark law, FDA law, and conducts workshops on intellectual property and student scholarship. She has previously taught courses on torts, regulation of science, and legal issues in biomedical research. Professor Eisenberg is a graduate of Stanford University and Boalt Hall School of Law (University of California, Berkeley), where she was articles editor of the California Law Review. Following law school, she clerked for Chief Judge Robert F. Peckham on the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California. She joined the Michigan Law School faculty in 1984.
Christopher M. Cook's career in TV and print news spans twenty-five years. His awards include fifteen regional Emmy's and a share of a Pulitzer Prize for investigative journalism. He is president and founder of Metrocom International Inc. in Ann Arbor. Cook's documentary work has appeared on public TV, commercial TV stations, and the History Channel. He was the documentary producer for the statewide public TV series, "Michigan at Risk," from 1999-2007. He also works as a field producer for ABC and other network news programs and produces corporate, legal and video for court cases. His 2008 documentary "Where Do the Children Play?" is under license to American Public Television and has aired in most major cities. It won top honors in the 2008 Eugene Oregon International Film Festival. Cook's 2001 documentary "Shawnee of America" also received national attention and was one of three finalists for "best limited series" in the International Documentary Association Awards in Los Angeles. Before turning to TV production in 1997, Cook was a reporter and editor at newspapers across the country, including eleven years at the San Diego Union. Prior to teaching, Chambers practiced law in Washington and served on the staff of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. He is a graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Law School.

Susan Crawford joined the faculty of the University of Michigan Law School on July 1, 2008. She is currently serving in the Obama Administration as a Special Assistant to the President for Science, Technology, and Innovation Policy as part of the National Economic Council, and is on government leave from her duties at the Law School, where she teaches internet law and communications law. She was a visiting professor at Michigan in 2007-2008 and at Yale Law School in spring 2008. She served as a member of the board of directors of ICANN from 2005-2008 and is the founder of OneWebDay, a global Earth Day for the internet that takes place each Sept. 22. Professor Crawford, a violist, received her B.A. (summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa) and J.D. from Yale University. She served as a clerk for Judge Raymond J. Dearie of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York, and was a partner at Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering (Washington, D.C.) until the end of 2002, when she left that firm to enter the legal academy.

Steven P. Croley teaches and writes in the areas of administrative law, civil procedure, regulation, torts, and related subjects. He began his teaching career at the Law School in 1993 and was associate dean for academic affairs from 2003-06. He has served as a consultant to the Administrative Conference of the United States, the U.S. Department of Labor, and the Michigan Law Revision Commission. His scholarly research appears, among other places, in the Administrative Law Journal, the Chicago Law Review, the Columbia Law Review, and the Harvard Law Review. His latest work, Regulation and Public Interests, is published by Princeton University Press. He is a member of the Pennsylvania and Michigan bars. Professor Croley received an A.B. from the University of Michigan, where he was a James B. Angell Scholar. He earned his J.D. from the Yale Law School, where he was articles editor for the Yale Law Journal, a John M. Olin student fellow, and winner of the John M. Olin Prize and the Benjamin Schanz Prize. He also earned a Ph.D. in politics from Princeton University. Following law school, he served as a law clerk for Judge Stephen Williams of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit.

The Honorable Harry T. Edwards, '65, was appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals in 1980, served as Chief Judge from 1994-2001. He graduated from Cornell University in 1982 and earned his law degree at the Michigan Law School in 1986. Since 1984, he has taught law at Harvard, Michigan, Duke, Pennsylvania, Georgetown, and MU School of Law, where he is currently a visiting professor of law.

Rebecca S. Eisenberg, the Robert and Barbara Luciano Professor of Law, has written and lectured extensively about the role of intellectual property in biopharmaceutical research. She has also played an active role in policy debates concerning intellectual property in research science. Professor Eisenberg teaches courses on patent law, trademark law, FDA law, and conducts workshops on intellectual property and student scholarship. She has previously taught courses on torts, legal regulation of science, and legal issues in biomedical research. Professor Eisenberg is a graduate of Stanford University and Boalt Hall School of Law (University of California, Berkeley), where she was articles editor of the California Law Review. Following law school, she clerked for Chief Judge Robert F. Peckham on the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California. She joined the Michigan Law School faculty in 1984.
Phoebe Ellsworth, the Frank Murphy Distinguished University Professor of Law and Psychology, has conducted pioneering scholarship in the field of psychology and law. She has published widely on the subjects of person perception and emotion, public opinion and the death penalty, and jury behavior. Her most recent articles have appeared in American Psychologist, Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, and Behavioral Sciences and Law. She holds a joint appointment in the Psychology Department at the University of Michigan. Professor Ellsworth is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Law and Society Association, the Executive Board of the American Bar Association's Death Penalty Information Center, a research scholar at the headquarters of General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva, and a Rockefeller Fellow in Brazil. In 1972-74 Jackson served as general counsel for the Office of the President's Special Representative for Trade, and in 1988-89 he served as associate vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan. He has advised governments and organizations worldwide and has been a prolific scholar and writer throughout his distinguished teaching career. Jackson earned a B.A. at Princeton University and a J.D. at Michigan; he was awarded honorary doctorates by Hamburg University and the European University Institute.

Susan Esserman, '77, a former Deputy U.S. Trade Representative, is a partner in the Washington office of Steptoe & Johnson, where she chairs the firm's International Department. She advises domestic and foreign clients on expanding access to global markets and on trade policy matters and represents clients in international trade litigation and dispute resolution matters. A frequent focus of her practice involves U.S.-India matters. She is a frequent speaker and writer on trade law and policy, the WTO, and India issues, and she is active on nonprofit boards with an international focus. She served in four senior positions in the Clinton Administration. As Deputy U.S. Trade Representative, a position with the rank of ambassador, Ms. Esserman was responsible for U.S. trade policy and negotiations in the WTO and with Europe, India, Russia, the former Soviet Union, Africa, and the Middle East. She previously served as General Counsel in the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, where she played a leading role in devising U.S. litigation strategy in the early years of WTO dispute resolution. In the Department of Commerce she served as Assistant Secretary for Commerce for Import Administration and as Acting General Counsel. Ms. Esserman graduated from Wellesley College and Michigan Law School, where she was administrative editor on the editorial board of the Michigan Journal of International Law.
Phoebe Ellsworth, the Frank Murphy Distinguished University Professor of Law and Psychology, has conducted pioneering scholarship in the field of predatory consumer law. She has published widely on the subjects of person perception and emotion, public opinion and the death penalty, and jury behavior. Her most recent articles have appeared in American Psychologist, Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, and Behavioral Sciences and the Law. She holds a joint appointment in the Psychology Department at the University of Michigan. Professor Ellsworth is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Law and Society Association, the Executive Board of the Death Penalty Information Center, and an ardent advocate for the death penalty for domestic violence. She is a former attorney for the State of Illinois and a former law clerk for Judge Oliver Gasch, U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. She clerked for Judge Irving Kaufman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and later practiced law in Chicago.

Susan Esserman, '77, a former Deputy U.S. Trade Representative, is a partner in the Washington office of Steptoe & Johnson, where she chairs the firm’s International Department. She advises domestic and foreign clients on expanding access to global markets and on trade policy matters and represents clients in international trade litigation and dispute resolution matters. A significant focus of her practice involves U.S.-India matters. She is a frequent speaker and writer on trade law and policy, the WTO, and India issues, and she is active on nonprofit boards with an international focus. She served in four senior positions in the Clinton Administration. As Deputy U.S. Trade Representative, a position with the rank of ambassador, Ms. Esserman was responsible for U.S. trade policy and negotiations in the WTO and with Europe, India, Russia, the former Soviet Union, Africa, and the Middle East. She previously served as General Counsel in the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, where she played a leading role in devolving U.S. litigation strategy in the early years of WTO dispute resolution. In the Department of Commerce she served as Assistant Secretary for Commerce for Import Administration and as Acting General Counsel. Ms. Esserman graduated from Wellesley College and Michigan Law School, where she was administrative editor on the editorial board of the Michigan Law Review. She clerked for Judge Oliver Ochse, U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

Richard D. Friedman, the Ralph W. Aigler Professor of Law, is an expert on evidence and Supreme Court history and is the general editor of The New Wigmore, a multi-volume treatise on evidence. In addition to having written numerous law review articles and essays, he is the author of the well-known textbook, The Elements of Evidence, now in its third edition, and coauthor of Waltz, Park & Friedman’s Evidence: Cases and Materials, now in its eleventh edition. In Crawford v. Washington, 541 U.S. 36 (2004), the Supreme Court radically transformed the law governing the right of a criminal defendant to confront the witnesses against him by adopting a “testimonial” approach, which Professor Friedman had long advocated. He now maintains the Confrontation Blog, www.confrontationright.blogspot.com, to comment on related issues and developments, and has successfully argued a follow-up case, Hammon v. Indiana, in the Supreme Court. Professor Friedman earned a B.A. and a J.D. from Harvard, both magna cum laude, and served as an editor of the Harvard Law Review. He also earned a D.Phil. in modern history from Oxford University. He clerked for Judge Irving Kaufman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and later practiced law in New York City. He joined the Michigan Law School faculty in 1986 from Cardozo Law School.

John H. Jackson, ‘59, an expert on international economic law, is a University Professor on the Georgetown University Law School faculty and director of Georgetown’s Institute of International Economic Law. He is the Hessel E. Yntema Professor of Law Emeritus at Michigan Law, where he taught from 1996-1997. Jackson’s most recent important honors include the Manley O. Hudson medal in April 2008, the highest award of the American Society of International Law, and an honorary doctorate in October 2008 from the European Union Institute; both honors recognize Jackson’s lifetime work of international law scholarship. He has been a visiting faculty member at the University of Delhi and the University of Brussels, a consultant on legal issues for the Ford Foundation, a research scholar at the headquarters of General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva, and a Rockefeller Fellow in Brussels. In 1988-89 Jackson served as general counsel for the Office of the President’s Special Representative for Trade, and in 1988-89 he served as associate vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan. He has advised governments and organizations worldwide and has been a prolific scholar and writer throughout his distinguished teaching career. Jackson earned a B.A. at Princeton University and a J.D. at Michigan; he was awarded honorary doctorates by Humboldt University and the European University Institute.

Vikramaditya S. Khanna, is a Professor of Law at the University of Michigan Law School. He earned the S.J.D. at Harvard Law School and has been visiting faculty at Harvard Law School, senior research fellow at Columbia Law School and Yale Law School, and visiting scholar at Stanford Law School. He received the John M. Olm Faculty Fellowship in 2002-2003, and his interest areas include corporate and securities laws, corporate crime, law in India, corporate governance in emerging markets, and law and economics. He is the founding and current editor of India Law Abstracts and White Collar Crime Abstracts at Social Science Research Network, a term member of the Council on Foreign Relations, and has served as Special Master in a dispute involving an Indian and American company. He has testified at the U.S. Congress and his papers have been published in the Harvard Law Review, Michigan Law Review, Supreme Court Economic Review, Journal of Empirical Legal Studies, and the Georgetown Law Journal, amongst others. News publications in the United States, India, Germany, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom have quoted him. He has given talks at Harvard, Columbia, Stanford, Yale, Berkeley, Wharton, NBER, the American Law & Economics Association Annual Meeting, and other venues in the United States, India, China, Turkey, and Greece amongst others, including a keynote in Brazil.

Zdenek Kuhn, L.L.M. ’02, S.J.D. ’06, is a justice of the Supreme Administrative Court of the Czech Republic (since 2008), a justice ad hoc with the European Court of Human Rights (since 2007), and a professor of jurisprudence at Charles University Law School in Prague, where he has served on the faculty since 1997. Kuhn is also a lecturer for New York University overseas students. His scholarly interests include European comparative public law and international law, and the judiciary, especially theory and practice of adjudication. He has served as a legal expert on Czech and Slovak law before U.S. courts, for example, in 2003 for the plaintiff in the case in re-Asociacion General S.P.A. Holocaust Insurance Litigation(U.S. District Court, Southern District of New York), one of the most important recent class action suits in the United States. Kuhn received his Master, Doctor Juris, and Ph.D. degrees from Charles University Law School, and his L.M. and S.J.D. from Michigan Law. In 2006 he received the American Society of Comparative Law’s Hessel Yntema Prize, which honors the most outstanding article by a scholar under 40 recently published in the American Journal of Comparative Law, for his article “Worlds Apart: Western and Central European Culture at the Onset of the European Enlargement,” 52 Am. J. Comp. L. 531-67 (2004).

Lee C. Bollinger Jr., 100, a graduate of the University of Michigan and Columbia University School of Law, is the twenty-seventh President of Columbia University. He also earned a D.Phil. in modern history from Oxford University. He served as a member of the Columbia Law School faculty since 1979, except for two years as the Dean of the law school (1987-1989). He has written two books and numerous articles on related issues and developments, and has successfully argued a follow-up case, Hammon v. Indiana, in the Supreme Court. Professor Friedman earned a B.A. and a J.D. from Harvard, both magna cum laude, and served as an editor of the Harvard Law Review. He also earned a D.Phil. in modern history from Oxford University. He clerked for Judge Irving Kaufman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and later practiced law in New York City. He joined the Michigan Law School faculty in 1986 from Cardozo Law School.
Margaret Leary, Director of the Law Library since 1984, has restructured the Law Library’s collections and services to be an integral part of faculty research, and to be supportive of law students and other users. She teaches Advanced Legal Research, a course she has taught in the School of Information at Michigan and at the University of Washington. In addition, she has served the profession of librarianship (President of the American Association of Law Libraries), legal education (member of ABA accreditation review team), public libraries (elected member of the Board of the Ann Arbor District Library), and the local community (Ann Arbor City Planning Commission, Huron Valley Habitat for Humanity). She has published articles about legal research and law libraries, including one about the development of Michigan’s foreign, comparative, and international law collections, which are among the world’s finest. For the last six years she has researched the life and times of Michigan’s Law generous but difficult donor, William W. Cook. She hopes to publish Cook’s biography, tentatively titled Giving It Away, later this year. Ms. Leary worked at the University of Michigan and the Legal Aid Society of Minneapolis before coming to Michigan in 1973. She has a B.A. from Cornell University, an M.A. from the University of Minnesota, and a J.D. from William Mitchell College of Law.

Jeffrey Lehman, ’81, served as dean of Michigan Law from 1994-2003. During his deanship at Michigan, he was one of the primary architects of the successful defense of the School of Law’s admissions policy before the U.S. Supreme Court. After completing his deanship he served as president of Cornell University. He is currently on leave from his position on the Cornell law faculty to serve as chancellor and founding dean of the Peking University School of Transnational Law, which in 2008 became the first school in mainland China to offer classes leading to a J.D. degree. Lehman did his undergraduate work at Cornell and received his J.D. and M.P.P. from Michigan. He then clerked for Chief Judge Frank M. Coffin of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and for Associate Judge John Paul Stevens of the U.S. Supreme Court. He practiced law with Caplin & Drysdale before joining the Michigan faculty. He was a member of the Michigan Law faculty from 1987-2003 and a professor at Michigan’s Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy from 1993-2003.

Wang Liming is Vice President and Professor of Law of China People’s (Renmin) University, where he serves as an academic supervisor for doctoral candidates. He was previously Dean of the People’s University School of Law of Renmin University. He is a member of the China Law Society’s Civil Law Research Association. He has served as a delegate to the 5th, 9th, 10th, and 11th National People’s Congresses (or "NPC," China’s national legislature), and is a key member of the NPC’s Legal Affairs Committee, where he led the drafting of China’s Contract Law and Tort Law. He is currently leading the Legal Affairs Committee’s work on a proposed Tort Liability Law. Wang serves on the Ministry of Education’s Humanities and Social Science Committee and is Vice Director of the Guidance Committee on Higher Legal Education. He also serves as a Vice Chairman of the China International Economic & Trade Arbitration Commission (CIETAC), and Senior Counselor to Supreme People’s Court of PRC. He has been a member of the Supreme People’s Provincial Court of China. In 1995, the China Law Society selected Wang as one of the country’s Ten Outstanding Young Jurists. He received his LL.B. from Hubei Institute of Finance and Economics (now Zhongnan University of Economics and Law) and his LL.M. and doctorate in law from People’s University.

Jessica Litman, the John F. Nickell Professor of Law, is the author of Digital Copyright and the coauthor, with Jane Ginsburg and Mary Lou Kevlin, of the casebook Trademarks and Unfair Competition Law: Cases and Materials. Before joining the University of Michigan Law faculty in 1998, Professor Litman was professor of law at Wayne State University in Detroit, a visiting professor at NYU Law School and at American University Washington College of Law, as well as a professor at the University of Michigan Law School from 1984-98. Professor Litman is a past trustee of the Copyright Society of the USA and a past chair of the American Association of Law Schools Section on Intellectual Property. In addition to serving on the advisory board for the Public Knowledge organization, she is a member of the Intellectual Property and Internet Committee of the ACLU, the Advisory Council of the Future of Music Coalition, the advisory board of CopyrightX, an online law database, and the American Law Institute. She graduated from Reed College, earned an MFA at Southern Methodist University, and holds a J.D. from Columbia Law School.

Mayo Moran, LM’92, is Dean and James M. Tory Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Toronto. She teaches torts in the first-year curriculum, and trusts, comparative constitutional equality, fault and responsibility in upper years. She has published in private law, comparative constitutional law, and legal and feminist theory. Moran’s book Rethinking the Reasonable Person was published in 2003 by Oxford University Press. In 2005, she was coeditor with Professor David Dyzenhaus of Calling Power to Account: Law, Repairs, and the Chinese Canadian Head Tax Case (University of Toronto Press). Her current work focuses on redressing widespread historic wrongs and the relation between public and private law. Moran has also worked on litigation involving the equality guarantee under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, including the Chinese Canadian Head Tax claim. She is chair of the Oversight Committee under the Independent Assessment Process, which is part of Canada’s historic Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement. Moran earned a B.A. and a B.Ed. from the University of British Columbia before going on to complete an L.L.B. at McGill University, an L.M.L. at the University of Michigan, and an S.J.D. at the University of Toronto.

Ronald L. Olson, is a partner in the Los Angeles office of Munger, Tolles & Olson, LLP, where he has practiced law since 1968. His practice involves a combination of litigation and corporate counseling. He has represented boards of directors, including Yahoo, regarding its strategic Microsoft dealings, and the Getty Trust, regarding foreign government claims on antiquities. He has represented companies subject to government investigations and prosecutions, including General Reinsurance ( Berkshire Hathaway’s subsidiary) and Solotem, Inc. Olson’s multiple representations in the oil industry include Shell Oil Company, arbitrations, current class actions for Katrina hurricane damage and global warming, as well as other oil companies in Alaskan matters, including the Exxon Valdez oil spill. He has a long history with the entertainment industry, representing clients in Congress, in forming strategic alliances, and in defending and prosecuting antitrust and intellectual property cases. Olson has also represented foreign governments, including the Republic of the Philippines against the Marcos family and Guatemala in recovering Mayan antiquities. He is a director of Berkshire Hathaway, Edition International, City National Corporation, the Washington Post Company, and Western Asset Trusts. He previously served as a director of several nonprofits, including the RAND Corporation (founded by A. Albert Hazen, the Mayo Clinic, and the Council on Foreign Relations. Olson earned his J.D. from Michigan Law and a Diploma in Law from Oxford University in 1967.

Margaret Leary, Director of the Law Library since 1984, has restructured the Law Library’s collections and services to be an integral part of faculty research, and to be supportive of law students and other users. She teaches Advanced Legal Research, a course she has taught in the School of Information at Michigan and at the University of Washington. In addition, she has served the profession of librarianship (President of the American Association of Law Libraries), legal education (member of ABA accreditation review team), public libraries (elected member of the Board of the Ann Arbor District Library), and the local community (Ann Arbor City Planning Commission, Huron Valley Habitat for Humanity). She has published articles about legal research and law libraries, including one about the development of Michigan’s foreign, comparative, and international law collections, which are among the world’s finest. For the last six years she has researched the life and times of Michigan’s Law generous but difficult donor, William W. Cook. She hopes to publish Cook’s biography, tentatively titled Giving It Away, later this year. Ms. Leary worked at the University of Michigan and the Legal Aid Society of Minneapolis before coming to Michigan in 1973. She has a B.A. from Cornell University, an M.A. from the University of Minnesota, and a J.D. from William Mitchell College of Law.

Jeffrey Lehman, ’81, served as dean of Michigan Law from 1994-2003. During his deanship at Michigan, he was one of the primary architects of the successful defense of the School of Law’s admissions policy before the U.S. Supreme Court. After completing his deanship he served as president of Cornell University. He is currently on leave from his position on the Cornell law faculty to serve as chancellor and founding dean of the Peking University School of Transnational Law, which in 2008 became the first school in mainland China to offer classes leading to a J.D. degree. Lehman did his undergraduate work at Cornell and received his J.D. and M.P.P. from Michigan. He then clerked for Chief Judge Frank M. Coffin of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and for Associate Judge John Paul Stevens of the U.S. Supreme Court. He practiced law with Caplin & Drysdale before joining the Michigan faculty. He was a member of the Michigan Law faculty from 1987-2003 and a professor at Michigan’s Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy from 1993-2003.

Wang Liming is Vice President and Professor of Law of China People’s (Renmin) University, where he serves as an academic supervisor for doctoral candidates. He was previously Dean of the People’s University School of Law of Renmin University. He is a member of the China Law Society’s Civil Law Research Association. He has served as a delegate to the 5th, 9th, 10th, and 11th National People’s Congresses (or "NPC," China’s national legislature), and is a key member of the NPC’s Legal Affairs Committee, where he led the drafting of China’s Contract Law and Tort Law. He is currently leading the Legal Affairs Committee’s work on a proposed Tort Liability Law. Wang serves on the Ministry of Education’s Humanities and Social Science Committee and is Vice Director of the Guidance Committee on Higher Legal Education. He also serves as a Vice Chairman of the China International Economic & Trade Arbitration Commission (CIETAC), and Senior Counselor to Supreme People’s Court of PRC. He has been a member of the Supreme People’s Provincial Court of China. In 1995, the China Law Society selected Wang as one of the country’s Ten Outstanding Young Jurists. He received his LL.B. from Hubei Institute of Finance and Economics (now Zhongnan University of Economics and Law) and his LL.M. and doctorate in law from People’s University.
Margaret Leary, Director of the Law Library since 1984, has reorganized the Law Library's collections and services to be an integral part of faculty research, and to be supportive of law students and other users. She teaches in the Advanced Legal Research course, which she has taught in the School of Information at Michigan and at the University of Washington. In addition, she has served the profession of law librarianship (President of the American Association of Law Libraries), legal education (member of 14 ABA accreditation review teams), public libraries (elected member of the Board of the Ann Arbor District Library), and the local community (Ann Arbor City Planning Commission, Huron Valley Habitat for Humanity). She has published articles about legal research and law libraries, including one about the development of Michigan's foreign, comparative, and international law collections, which are among the world's finest. For the last six years she has researched the life and times of Michigan Law's generous but difficult donor, William W. Cook. She hopes to publish Cook's biography, tentatively titled Giving It All Away, later this year. Ms. Leary worked at the University of Michigan Medical School and the Legal Aid Society of Minneapolis before coming to Michigan in 1973. She has a B.A. from Cornell University, an M.A. from the University of Minnesota, and a J.D. from William Mitchell College of Law.

Jeffrey Lehman, '81, served as dean of Michigan Law from 1994-2003. During his deanship at Michigan, he was one of the primary architects of the successful defense of the Law School's admissions policy before the U.S. Supreme Court. After completing his term as dean he served as president of Cornell University. He is currently on leave from his position on the Cornell law faculty to serve as chancellor and founding dean of the Peking University School of Transnational Law, which in 2008 became the first school in mainland China to offer classes leading to a J.D. degree. Lehman did his undergraduate work at Cornell and received his J.D. and M.P.P. from Michigan. He then clerked for Chief Judge Frank M. Coffin of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and for Associate Judge John Paul Stevens of the U.S. Supreme Court. He practiced law with Caplin & Drysdale before joining the Michigan faculty. He was a member of the Michigan Law faculty from 1987-2003 and a professor at Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy from 1993-2003.

Wang Liming is Vice President and Professor of Law of China People's (Renmin) University, where he serves as an academic supervisor for doctoral candidates. He was previously Dean of the People's University School of Law. Wang has been a visiting scholar at the University of Tokyo, Harvard University, University of Paris I, and University of Michigan. He has served as a delegate to the 9th, 10th, and 11th National People's Congresses (or "NPC," China's national legislature), and is a key member of the NPC's Legal Affairs Committee, where he led the drafting of China's Contract Law and Tort Law. Wang has been a visiting scholar at the University of Michigan, Yale University, Harvard University, University of Paris I, and University of Michigan. He has served as a delegate to the 9th, 10th, and 11th National People's Congresses (or "NPC," China's national legislature), and is a key member of the NPC's Legal Affairs Committee, where he led the drafting of China's Contract Law and Tort Law. He is currently leading the Legal Affairs Committee's work on a proposed Tort Liability Law. Wang serves on the Ministry of Education's Humanities and Social Science Committee and is Vice Director of the Guidance Committee on Higher Legal Education. He also serves as a Vice Chairman of the China International Economic & Trade Arbitration Commission (CIETAC), and Senior Counselor to Supreme People's Court and the Supreme People's Procuratorate of China. In 1995, the China Law Society selected Wang as one of the country's Ten Outstanding Young Jurists. He received his LL.B. from Hubei Institute of Finance and Economics (now Zhongnan University of Economics and Law) and his LL.M. and doctorate in law from People's University.

Jessica Litman, the John F. Nickoll Professor of Law, is the author of Digital Copyright and the coauthor, with Janie Ginsburg and Mary Lou Koening, of the casebook, Trademarks and Unfair Competition Law: Cases and Materials. Before rejoining the Michigan faculty in 2006, Professor Litman was professor of law at Wayne State University in Detroit, a visiting professor at NYU Law School and at American University Washington College of Law, as well as a professor at the University of Michigan Law School from 1984-90. Professor Litman is a past trustee of the Copyright Society of the USA and a past chair of the American Association of Law Schools Section on Intellectual Property. In addition to serving on the advisory board for the Public Knowledge organization, she is a member of the Intellectual Property and Internet Committee of the ACLU, the Advisory Council of the Future of Music Coalition, the advisory board of CyberLaw Institute, and the American Law Institute. She graduated from Reed College, earned an MFA at Southern Methodist University, and holds a J.D. from Columbia Law School.

Mayo Moran, L.L.M. '92, is Dean and James M. Tory Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, University of Toronto. She teaches torts in the first-year curriculum, and trusts, comparative constitutional equality, fault and responsibility in upper years. She has published in private law, comparative constitutional law, and legal and feminist theory. Moran's book Rethinking the Reasonable Person was published in 2003 by Oxford University Press. In 2005, she was coeditor with Professor David Dyzenhaus of Calling Power to Account: Law, Reparations, and the Chinese Canadian Head Tax Case (University of Toronto Press). Her current work focuses on redressing widespread historic wrongs and the relation between public and private law. Moran has also worked on litigation involving the equality guarantee under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, including the Chinese Canadian Head Tax claim. She is chair of the Oversight Committee under the Independent Assessment Process, which is part of Canada's historic Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement. Moran earned a B.A. and a B.Ed. from the University of British Columbia before going on to complete an L.L.B. at McGill University, an LL.M. at the University of Michigan, and an S.J.D. at the University of Toronto.

Ronald L. Olson, is a partner in the Los Angeles office of Munger, Tolles & Olson, LLP, where he has practiced law since 1968. His practice involves a combination of litigation and corporate counseling. He has represented boards of directors, including Yahoo, regarding its strategic Microsoft dealings, and the Getty Trust, regarding foreign government claims on antiquities. He has represented companies subject to government investigations and prosecutions, including General Reinsurance (Berkshire Hathaway's subsidiary) and Solmon, Inc. Olson’s multiple representations in the oil industry include Shell Oil Company, in antitrust actions and current class actions for Katrina hurricane damage and global warming, as well as other oil companies in Alaskan matters, including the Exxon Valdez oil spill. He has a long history with the entertainment industry, representing clients in Congress, in forming strategic alliances, and in defending and prosecuting antitrust and intellectual property cases. Olson has also represented governments, including the Republic of the Philippines against the Marcos family and Guatemala in recovering Mayan antiquities. He is a director of Berkshire Hathaway, Edithion International, City National Corporation, the Washington Post Company, and Western Asset Trusts. He has served as a director of several nonprofits, including the RAND Corporation (founded by A.M. Taubman), the Mayo Clinic, and the Council on Foreign Relations. Olson earned his J.D. from Michigan Law and a Diploma in Law from Oxford University in 1967.
Margaret Jane Radin, the Henry King Ransom Professor of Law, teaches Contracts, Internet Commerce, Patent, and other courses and seminars dealing with property theory, the interaction between property and contracts, and the evolution of property and contract in the digital era. She is the author of two books exploring the problems of propertyization, Contrasted Commodities (Harvard University Press, 1995) and Reinterpretations (University of Chicago Press 1999), as well as coauthor of a casebook, Internet Commerce: the Emerging Legal Framework (Foundation Press 2d ed. 2005). Professor Radin has taught at the University of Southern California and at Stanford University, and has been a visiting professor at Harvard, UC Berkeley (Boalt Hall), and NYU. During 2006-07, she was the inaugural Microsoft Fellow in Law and Public Affairs at Princeton University, where she developed a course in patent law and innovation policy for engineers and students of public policy. In 2008, she became a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Professor Radin received her A.B. from Stanford, where she majored in music, and her J.D. from the University of Chicago. She was advanced to candidacy for the Ph.D. in musicology at UC Berkeley before she changed her career path to law and received her J.D. from the University of Southern California in 1976. She remains an avid amateur flutist.

Terrance Sandalow is Dean Emeritus and Edson R. Sunderland Professor of Law Emeritus at Michigan Law. He joined the Michigan Law faculty in 1966 and was dean from 1976-1987. He has written extensively about higher education and in the fields of constitutional law, federal jurisdiction, and municipal government. While on the law faculty of the University of Minnesota, Sandalow served as a member of the Minnesota Commission on Human Relations and as a consultant to the Twin Cities Metropolitan Area Planning Commission. He has also been a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences. Sandalow holds undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Chicago. Following graduation, he served as law clerk to Judge Sterry R. Waterman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit and Justice Potter Stewart of the U.S. Supreme Court. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Theodore J. St. Antoine, ’54, is the James E. and Sarah A. Degan Professor Emeritus at Michigan Law, where he began his academic career in 1965 after practicing labor law in Washington, D.C. He was dean of the Law School from 1971-78. His teaching specialties were labor and employment law and contracts. St. Antoine has been a labor arbitrator for 40 years and was president of the National Academy of Arbitrators in 1999-2000. He is a member of the board of directors and the executive committee of the American Arbitration Association. He served on the UAW’s Public Review Board from 1973-2008, chairing it the last eight years. He was chair of the UAW-GM Legal Services Plan from 1973-2008; , including a law degree and a graduate degree in Chinese literature. She joined the Michigan Law faculty in 1976, after serving as law clerk to Judge Lloyd A. Levine of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit and to Justice Lewis Powell of the Supreme Court of the United States.

J.J. White, ’62, the Robert A. Sullivan Professor of Law, has written on many aspects of commercial law. His book, Uniform Commercial Code (with Summers), is considered to be the most widely recognized treatise on the subject. He is also the author of several casebooks on commercial, bankruptcy, and contracts law. Professor White has served as the reporter for the Revision of Article 2 of the Uniform Commercial Code and is a Commissioner on Uniform Laws from Michigan. He has also served on several American Law Institute and NCCUSL committees dealing with revision to the Uniform Commercial Code. He received the L. Hart Wright Award for Excellence in Teaching for 2001-02 and the Homer Knight Achievement Award, given by the American College of Commercial Finance Lawyers. Professor White earned his B.A., magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, from Amherst College and his J.D., Order of the Coif, from the University of Michigan Law School. He practiced privately in Los Angeles before beginning his academic career at the University of Michigan in 1964.

Christina B. Whitman, ’74, is the Francis A. Cullen Collegiate Professor of Law and a professor of Women’s Studies at the University of Michigan. She is currently serving as Vice Provost for Academic and Faculty Affairs for the University. Her research interests include federal courts, constitutional litigation, torts, and feminist jurisprudence, with a particular focus on questions of personal and institutional responsibility. From 1997 to 2001, Professor Whitman served as an associate dean for academic affairs for the Law School. From 2005 to 2007, she was Special Counsel to the Provost for the Policy on Conflicts of Interest/Conflicts of Commitment. A former editor in chief of the Michigan Law Review, Professor Whitman holds three degrees from the University of Michigan, including a law degree and a graduate degree in Chinese literature. She was a visiting professor at Harvard, UC Berkeley (Boalt Hall), and NYU. During 2006-07, she was the inaugural Microsoft Fellow in Law and Public Affairs at Princeton University, where she developed a course in patent law and innovation policy for engineers and students of public policy. In 2008, she became a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Professor Radin received her A.B. from Stanford, where she majored in music, and her J.D. from the University of Chicago. She was advanced to candidacy for the Ph.D. in musicology at UC Berkeley before she changed her career path to law and received her J.D. from the University of Southern California in 1976. She remains an avid amateur flutist.
Margaret Jane Radin, the Henry King Ransom Professor of Law, teaches Contracts, Internet Commerce, Patent, and other courses and seminars dealing with property theory; the interaction between property and contracts, and the evolution of property and contract in the digital era. She is the author of two books exploring the problems of proprietization, Contested Commodities (Harvard University Press 1996) and Reinterpreting Property Law (University of Chicago Press 1999), as well as coauthor of a casebook, Internet Commerce: the Emerging Legal Framework (Foundation Press 2d ed. 2005). Professor Radin has taught at the University of Southern California and at Stanford University, and has been a visiting professor at Harvard, UC Berkeley (Boalt Hall), and NYU. During 2006-07, she was the inaugural Microsoft Fellow in Law and Public Affairs at Princeton University, where she developed a course in patent law and innovation policy for engineers and students of public policy. In 2008, she became a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Professor Radin received her A.B. from Stanford, where she majored in music, and her M.F.A. in music history from Brandeis University. She was advanced to candidacy for the Ph.D. in musicology at UC Berkeley before she changed her career path to law and received her J.D. from the University of Southern California in 1976. She remains an avid amateur flutist.

Terrance Sandalow is Dean Emeritus and Edison R. Sunderland Professor of Law Emeritus at Michigan Law. He joined the Michigan faculty in 1966 and was dean from 1979-1987. He has written extensively about higher education and in the fields of constitutional law, federal jurisdiction, and municipal government. While on the law faculty of the University of Minnesota, Sandalow served as a member of the Minnesota Commission on Human Relations and as a consultant to the Twin Cities Metropolitan Area Planning Commission. He has also been a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences. Sandalow holds undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Chicago. Following graduation, he served as law clerk to Judge Sterry R. Waterman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit and Justice Potter Stewart of the U.S. Supreme Court. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Theodore J. St. Antoine, ’54, is the James E. and Sarah A. Degan Professor Emeritus at Michigan Law, where he began his academic career in 1965 after practicing labor law in Washington, D.C. He was dean of the Law School from 1971-78. His teaching specialties were labor and employment law and contracts. St. Antoine has been a labor arbitrator for 40 years and was president of the National Academy of Arbitrators in 1999-2000. He is a member of the board of directors and the executive committee of the American Arbitration Association. He served on the UAW’s Public Review Board from 1973-2008, chairing it the last eight years. He was chair of the UAW-GM Legal Services Plan from 1983-1995 and is a past member and chair of the Michigan Attorney Discipline Board. St. Antoine is co-editor of a leading labor law casebook, now in its eleventh edition, and editor of the National Academy of Arbitrators’ The Common Law of the Workplace: The View of Arbitrators. He has been a visiting professor at Cambridge, Duke, George Washington, and Tokyo Universities and has taught at the Salisbury Seminer in American Studies. St. Antoine is a graduate of Fordham College and Michigan Law. Following service in the Army Judge Advocate General Corps, he did postgraduate study in law and economics at the London School of Economics.

J.J. White, ’62, the Robert A. Sullivan Professor of Law, has written on many aspects of commercial law. His book, Uniform Commercial Code (with Summers), is considered to be the most widely recognized treatise on the subject. He is also the author of several casbooks on commercial, bankruptcy, and contracts law. Professor White has served as the reporter for the Revision of Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code and is a Commissioner on Uniform Laws from Michigan. He has also served on several American Law Institute and NCCUSL committees dealing with revision to the Uniform Commercial Code. He received the L. Hart Wright Award for Excellence in Teaching for 2001-02 and the Homer Knight Achievement Award, given by the American College of Commercial Finance Lawyers. Professor White earned his B.A., magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, from Amherst College and his J.D., Order of the Coif, from the University of Michigan Law School. He practiced privately in Los Angeles before beginning his academic career at the University of Michigan in 1964.

Christina B. Whitman, ’74, is the Francis A. C. Collegegate Professor of Law and professor of Women’s Studies at the University of Michigan. She is currently serving as Vice Provost for Academic and Faculty Affairs for the University. Her research interests include federal courts, constitutional litigation, torts, and feminist jurisprudence, with a particular focus on questions of personal and institutional responsibility. From 1997 to 2001, Professor Whitman served as an associate dean for academic affairs for the Law School. From 2005 to 2007, she was Special Counsel to the Provost for the Policy on Conflicts of Interest/Conflicts of Commitment. A former editor in chief of the Michigan Law Review, Professor Whitman holds three degrees from the University of Michigan, including a law degree and a graduate degree in Chinese literature. She joined the Michigan Law faculty in 1976, after serving as law clerk to Judge Deborah L. Levinson of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit and to Justice Lewis Powell of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Yoichiro Yamakawa, M.C.L. ’69, is a partner in the Tokyo firm of Koga & Partners. His areas of practice include First Amendment-related practice, general corporate work, international transactions and litigation. He has represented major media in some of Japan’s most high-profile First Amendment cases. In the 1991-92 academic year Yamakawa was a visiting professor at Michigan Law, teaching ‘Freedom of Speech in the U.S. and Japan’ with then Dean Lee C. Bollinger. From 1970-72 he was a lecturer with the Hosei University Law Faculty. He has written widely on constitutional litigation and freedom of expression, defamation and privacy, and has translated into Japanese both Archibald Cox’s The Warren Court and Joseph Sax’s Defending the Environment. He served on the boards of Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group, Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation, and Dai-ichi Mutual Life Insurance Company until June 2009, and is statutory auditor of Nisshin Steel Company, Limited. He earned his LL.B. from Tokyo University and his M.C.L. from Michigan Law.