Dean Allan F. Smith
University of Michigan Law School
Ann Arbor, Michigan
Dear Dean:

It is a privilege and honor to report to you the success of our first year's giving campaign for the University of Michigan Law School Fund. $49,663.61 was contributed by 1,199 alumni and friends of the Law School. Considering our late start in the year, and the necessity of setting up an organization from scratch, all of us should be pleased with the results.

In viewing the comments of our loyal workers, one of the most gratifying realizations was that few turned us down. The alumni who worked in the campaign are sure they can do even better next year. The enthusiasm to assist the Law School is strong and in the years ahead will grow stronger.

I have noted with pleasure that the support has come from Maine to Honolulu, from Washington to Florida, and that alumni in Michigan have responded in strength. I have observed participation from alumni of nearly every graduating class from 1892 to 1961, and every class since the turn of the century. The willingness of busy alumni to provide the time, the effort, and the zest to the campaign has been remarkable.

All of the alumni contacted, so far as I can determine, recognized the need for unrestricted funds as set forth in your letter at the beginning of the campaign.

There were a number of stars on the team, but the efforts of many and the high esteem the contributors have for the Law School made our efforts a success.

I want to express my thanks to you, your associates, the National Committee and to the many alumni for making my part in this campaign an enjoyable one.

Sincerely,
Herbert E. Wilson
Chairman,
National Committee

Herbert E. Wilson, Esq.
Indianapolis, Indiana
Dear Herb:

To you and the hundreds of alumni who made the first year of our Law School Fund a real success, I extend heartfelt thanks on behalf of the faculty of the Law School and the administration of the University. When the product of the School demonstrates so tangibly its continued interest in and support of our educational objectives, we are encouraged to continue to strive for the excellence which we all seek. We are mindful that our job is to train lawyers in a way that will insure that they can preserve the great traditions of the law and at the same time be prepared to serve as leaders in shaping and guiding the society of tomorrow. To perform the task requires a careful marshalling of resources, both human and material. The financial help supplied by the alumni serves to undergird and stimulate our efforts to keep the educational program at top efficiency.

I have told you and some others that our experience in the first year compares favorably with first-year efforts at other leading law schools. Their programs of long standing show steady growth as the schools demonstrate their needs and their capacity to make wise and effective use of the added support. Our needs are immediate, and we are confident that our Law School can show fruitful use of the funds. We have already spent nearly 50% of this year's gifts to aid our student body, assuring that we may keep in school high quality students and that they will be able to devote full attention to rigorous professional training. The funds will bring to the Law School next year a distinguished visiting professor and will aid in the maintenance of our splendid library. These are the extras of excellence you have helped to provide. We face the future with confidence, yet sobered by the sense of responsibility we have to justify the support our alumni are providing.

Sincerely yours,
Allan F. Smith
Dean
