Justice Stewart Presides At Campbell Competition

Distinguished jurist also receives Doctor of Laws degree at annual Case Club Banquet.

The activities of the Case Clubs reached their climax for 1965-66 on March 9 with arguments in the forty-first annual Henry M. Campbell Competition, followed by the Clubs' annual banquet at which Potter Stewart, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, received the honorary degree Doctor of Laws.

Judging the competition were Mr. Justice Stewart; Judge Clifford O'Sullivan, United States Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit; Judge W. Wallace Kent, Chief Judge, United States District Court, Western District of Michigan; Acting Dean Charles W. Joiner of the Law School, and Associate Professor Robert L. Knauss of the Law School, who also authored the case that was argued.

The teams in the competition argued a case concerned with nondisclosure of inside information and the purchase of securities by company officials.

Finalists this year were four juniors, Michael Coffield, Wilmette, Illinois; Kay Felt, Shreve, Ohio; Edmund B. Frost, Denver, Colorado; and Peter L.

Truebner, Stamford, Connecticut. Mr. Coffield and Miss Felt were declared the winning team. In addition, Mr. Coffield was named Presiding Judge of the Case Clubs for 1966-67 and Miss Felt was chosen Chairman of the Campbell Competition. Miss Felt is the third woman to reach the final round of the Campbell Competition and second to be a member of the winning team.

The citation, presented by Harlan Hatcher, President of the University, accompanying the honorary degree for Mr. Justice Stewart reads in part:

"It is a delight for a legal assembly to contemplate a jurist who has preserved himself from all extremes, both of vagary and of circumspection.

"He has translated his native moderation . . . into a positive and comprehensive principle, conceiving of order as the coadjutor of needful change, technical precision as the servant of clear-eyed common sense, and a lively sympathy for the actual condition of affected persons as the guide through legal maze."

Justice Stewart and University President Harlan Hatcher

Jackson, Michigan, holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees cum laude from Yale University. He was a Fellow at Cambridge University, England, in 1937-38 before being admitted to the Ohio bar. He practiced law in New York City and Cincinnati, before serving as U. S. Judge of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, which embraced Michigan, from 1954 to 1958. He became an associate justice of the Supreme Court in 1958. He had earlier been a Cincinnati councilman and vice mayor.

Charles W. Joiner, acting dean of the Law School, praised Justice Stewart for his close relationship and service to Michigan. Pointing out that he is the Justice for the state as the 6th Circuit Justice, Dean Joiner said "he has employed graduates of the Law School as his clerks and served as chief judge of our Case Clubs."

This fall three former clerks of Justice Stewart will be members of the law faculty. They are: Jerold H. Israel, Thomas E. Kauper, and Terence Sandalow.

THE VICTORS: Kay Felt argues before the court. Her partner, Michael W. Coffield, center, accepts the award for the team from Judge Clifford O'Sullivan. Judge W. Wallace Kent, right, calls for a revival of the art of advocacy.
