Call for Submissions

The editors of the Michigan Law Review invite essay submissions on current areas of legal thought and research for First Impressions, our online publication.

First Impressions publishes op-ed style articles by academics, judges, practitioners, and law students, as well as timely responses to articles in the print journal of the Michigan Law Review. Our online companion quickly disseminates the legal community's initial impressions of important judicial decisions and legislative developments.

First Impressions prefers submissions under 3,000 words and cannot accept essays over 3,500 words. Submissions should be written in a style accessible to a general audience of practitioners and policymakers. Pieces will be published on an expedited production schedule.

Television Courtroom Broadcasting

Distraction Effects and Eye-Tracking

Paul Lambert

This study demonstrates for the first time that eye-tracking technology can now accurately determine whether the courtroom actors look at the television cameras in the courtroom and for how long. In doing so, Television Courtroom Broadcasting opens the door to a new era of research on the effects of in-court distraction.
