Dear Ninety-ones:

I am sending each of you today a copy of our revised Roll. This edition aims simply to tell who of us are still present thirty-five years after, how we are occupied now, and where we live. Even thus limited the work needs correcting or supplementing at numerous points, and any data therefor members of the class can give me will be gratefully received.

With this list of the living is a separate record, far too long, of those who have gone recently—near or since the last roll-call.

The outlook for our reunion next month is very good, really good. Almost every day I hear of some who plan to come. And I know that not all of you who are to be here have let me know yet. Please do that as soon as you can.

As you know already, Miss Dean invites us to supper, at her home, Friday evening, 11 June. Saturday evening, the twelfth, we are to dine at the Union, in a specially good room. And for headquarters we have Bob Effinger's apartment as Dean.

Yours for a great reunion,

Earle W. Dow, Secretary
