OUR MAN IN HUTCHINS: At 2:30 this Sunday, May 14, the Law Review, Faculty "Bloopers" ball game will be held at the field just north of Stadium, west of State. Either A. Smith or C. Joiner is scheduled to start for the Underdogs. Mrs. Kett has available draft deferment forms. David Bemers will clerk for Justice Perry of the Supreme Court of Oregon.

SENIORS: Next Wednesday night, May 17, is the time you have been waiting for - the Senior Class Party. Those who are eligible to join the merriment are the members of the June & August '61, and February '62 classes, and also a special invitation to the members of the faculty. The Ann Arbor American Legion will be the place; the admission will be $2 (entitles you to all you are able to drink), and the activities will commence at 8 P.M. Next Tuesday and Wednesday you may vote in front of Room 100 for the various awards which will be given to members of the class, such as the recipient of the 'Most Actionable Nuisance Award', the 'Sammy Baugh Award', and some others which will appear on the ballot.

Due to the favorable response received considering the alumni newsletter and the class gift consisting of a scholarship fund, the details of these projects have been worked out and may be seen on the main bulletin board. If you wish to participate in the class gift, you may make this year's contribution of $1 at the class party. In the event you are unable to contribute that night for one reason or another, there will be another opportunity before final exams.

CONDITIONS OF COOK: (Reprinted from '57 issue)

Through the generosity of William W. Cook, the Law Quadrangle was created as it stands today. This generosity has also given rise to a belief that there were numerous conditions placed upon this grant; especially concerning the Lawyers Club. An attempt is herein made to resolve this serious problem of what, if any, were the conditions upon which Cook made his grants.

Because the supposed conditions are numerous, and in fear of missing some if each were to be negated separately, we shall start with the premise that no conditions exist, other than those enumerated below. These may be said to be the only conditions that have a valid basis.

Although much correspondence was exchanged between Mr. Cook and various people in the University during the period over which these gifts were made, there are four principal instruments by which Cook stipulated the conditions to be placed on his gifts. These are three letters, which may be considered as offers of gift, and his will. The first letter is dated April 4, 1922, and is the offer to build the Lawyers Club. (Included therein were the dining hall, social room, and entries A to J.) With this gift the following conditions may be said to arise: 1) That the University of Michigan was to furnish free of charge to the Club, heat, light and power. (Cook always felt that the University should maintain and repair these buildings in the same manner as they do other buildings.) 2) That the buildings be called the Lawyers Club. 3) It is to be controlled and operated by the Board of Governors, the make up of which he also designated. 4) "Going prices shall be charged for room and board." and 5) The profits derived from the operation of the Club were to be used for legal research. It was Cook's intention to create a profit making enterprise to underwrite the cost of research rather than merely placing money in trust for such purpose. These may be considered as the only conditions that he placed on his gift of the Lawyers Club and upon which it was opened for the first time in the Fall of 1923.
In January of 1929, Mr. Cook, in another letter to the regents, offered to build a legal research building. He again placed the burden of general maintenance and of supplying heat, light and power free of charge, on the University. With this letter, he also declared that as a condition of this gift, the Lawyers Club was "not to be used for accommodation of Summer students or schools," nor any organization meetings or conventions. He requested that no publicity be given the donor.

Finally, in a third letter dated April 4, 1929, he offered an addition to the Lawyers Club. This is the present John P. Cook building which he requested to be named in honor of his father. He also incorporated the conditions of the two previous letters as a part of this gift. In the event another building is constructed on the southeast corner of the quadrangle, he asked that it be called the Thomas M. Cooley building. The John P. Cook building was completed in 1930, and the legal research building in 1931.

William W. Cook died June 4, 1930. In his will he first provided for his debts, then for certain relations, employees, and friends. His estate in New York was given to the Presbyterian Hospital in the City of New York, with the condition that if such property is not used in their operations or an attempt is made to mortgage, lease, or sell such property, it is to revert to the residuary clause wherein the Law School is beneficiary. (Note should be taken that this is the exact opposite of the common belief that the Law Quadrangle would revert to some "church" if the buildings were misused or other conditions not followed. This latter rumor has no basis.)

As stated previously, the residuary clause creates a trust "for aiding and developing the said Law School of the University of Michigan" in a manner thereinafter prescribed. Here he states his desire that the Law Quadrangle be completed including the addition of what is now Hutchins Hall. Again, the statement is made that the Lawyers Club is to be operated and controlled by the Board of Governors. It is suggested that among other things, higher salaries are to be paid to members of the Law School faculty, than are set by the University standard. (This provision has never been used for the purpose of supplementing faculty salaries over and above those of the University community.) It is also suggested that "eminent jurists and lawyers" be invited to deliver lectures and that an annual lecture course on "American Institutions and Their Preservation" be inaugurated. This last provision is mandatory. There is also a statement of his desire that work be directed towards "aiding and promoting Legal Education throughout the United States."

FRATERNITY NEWS:
Phids: 502 E. Madison
Picnic this Saturday, May 13, at Kensington Park (S. Hickory Ridge) starting at 2:00 p.m. Directions at the house. Refreshments. Free to Members.
Delts: 1212 Hill
Spring Picnic in the "Playfield Area" of Kensington Park this Saturday afternoon. Transportation will be available at the house at 2:00 and the picnic will begin at 2:30. Free Refreshments. Details available at the house.

OVER THE WEEKEND:
Around Town:
Sun. afternoon: Law Review-Faculty game
Sun. night: Ayn Rand
At the Flicks:
Michigan (Dial 5-6290) starts today...GWTW
State (Dial 2-6264) now...Mein Kampf
Campus (Dial 8-6416) now...Breathless
Architecture (Cinema Guild) tonight...The Quiet Man
Sat. & Sun...Fellini's Nights of Cabiria
Ypsi-Ann Drive-In now...Let's Make Love & Pajama Game